WALKER - The annual 7th Generation Youth substance use disorder summit returned June 24 and 25.

The two day summit began as an expansion of a well received youth panel that was first held as part of the 2018 Opioid Summit. The summit's goal is to reach 300 youths that reside within the Leech Lake boundaries through education and prevention utilizing a cultural perspective and approach.

Attendees were treated to lunch and dinner both days and received small gift bags from the event.

"Every youth here, I want you to know that you are your ancestors' hopes and dreams-you are the future of Leech Lake. I don't say this as a burden for you to carry but as an identity for you to carry through everything you do," said LLBO Secretary-Treasurer Lenny Fineday.

The event covered important topics such as; drug awareness, youth leadership, physi-cal wellness, healthy relationships, and suicide awareness. The event also combined cultural activities as a means of traditional healing. Cultural events included hoop dancing, woodland style teachings, jingle dress teachings, traditional female and male teachings, an Ojibwe fashion show, birchbark, moccasin , drumstick, choker, and rice knocker making courses.

Tribal Chairman Faron Jackson who gave opening remarks during the second day of the summit said youth activities like the summit are essential to a successful upbringing, and keeping children on the right path.

"Everyday we need to give our kids a lot of support. Growing up happens so fast, they need us behind them. I've never believed there's such a thing as a ""bad kid."" We all make mistakes and lose sight of the path sometimes but providing our kids education and support is how we ensure they stay with the teachings and grow up successful," said Jackson.

Boosting Our Economy: Leech Lake Band of Ojibwe Updates Economic Development Plan

via BRYAN MCCOY | LLBOTD 218-335-3769 bryan.mccoy@llojibwe.net

The Leech Lake Band of Ojibwe is taking proactive steps to strengthen their economy by updating our Comprehensive Economic Development Strategy (CEDs) plan. This plan will guide their economic development efforts and help them achieve their long-term goals, ensuring a brighter future for tribal members and utilizing local resources effectively.

Adapting to a changing economy is crucial for the tribe's success. By updating the CEDs plan, the Leech Lake Band of Ojibwe can stay ahead of economic trends, seize new opportunities, and become leaders in the region.

The updated plan will also address the challenges faced by the tribe's economy. By carefully analyzing the current situation, the tribe can identify these challenges and develop strategies to overcome them. This comprehensive approach will make the tribe more resilient and better equipped to handle obstacles that may arise.

The Leech Lake Band of Ojibwe recognizes the valuable resources within their community, including nature, people, and culture. Through the updated CEDs plan, tribal leaders will find innovative ways to make the most of these resources. This may involve forming partnerships, promoting sustainable tourism, supporting local businesses, and investing in essential infrastructure.

Empowering tribal members is a top priority for the tribe. By

Expanding Horizons: Leech Lake Band Begins Rollout of Class II Gaming Operations

CASS LAKE – In a momentous move that promises to shape the future of the Leech Lake Band community, tribal leaders recently announced the expansion of Class II gaming operations beyond tribal-owned establishments. This groundbreaking decision aims to create new economic opportunities for the tribe while forging vital partnerships with non-tribal businesses.

What is Class II Gaming?

Class II gaming, as defined by the Indian Gaming Regulatory Act (IGRA), includes bingo and certain non-banking card games. Class II gaming machines, also known as bingo-based gaming machines, simulate bingo games on electronic devices connected to a central server. Players interact by pressing the "spin" or "play" button, and the machine's screen displays random symbols. The central server draws bingo numbers, which are matched against the player's selections to determine winning outcomes. Class II gaming machines offer an exciting and unique gaming experience that combines elements of traditional bingo with the aesthetics of slot machines, providing a different type of entertainment for players.

Diversifying the Economic Landscape

The expansion of Class II gaming operations beyond tribal businesses is seen as a strategic move to enhance the band's economic resilience and self-sufficiency. By venturing into non-tribally owned businesses, the Leech Lake Band aims to achieve the following key objectives:

• Increased Overall Revenue: The addition of Class II gaming operations in non-tribal establishments is expected to bring in new customers and revenue streams. As the overall gaming market expands, the tribe's overall gaming revenue will grow, providing more substantial opportunities for all.

• Reinvesting in the Community: Profits generated from Class II gaming will be reinvested into crucial community programs and services, providing better resources and support for the members. updating the CEDs plan, the Leech Lake Band of Ojibwe aims to create new job opportunities, support entrepreneurship, and provide training and education programs. Involving tribal members in economic growth will allow everyone have the potential to contribute a bright future.

Preserving their cultural and natural heritage is essential. The updated CEDs plan will prioritize sustainable practices, such as renewable energy projects, land conservation, and responsible resource management. By balancing economic growth with sustainability, the tribe honors their traditions while securing a prosperous future. To involve the community in

To involve the community in shaping economic development strategies, the Tribal Development invites members and residents within the reservation boundaries to participate in a public survey. This survey, available at www.surveymonkey.com/r/LeechCEDS, allows individuals to share their opinions, ideas, and concerns about the community's economic development. Participants will have a chance to win a $300 grand prize.

Participating in the survey is an opportunity to have a say in decision-making. By sharing their perspectives, community members can shape the future of the Leech Lake Band of Ojibwe and ensure that economic initiatives meet their expectations.

Taking part in the survey also brings personal benefits. It contributes to the creation of new jobs, supports entrepreneurship, and provides valuable training and education opportunities. Active participation in the survey directly impacts personal growth and economic well-being.

By coming together and participating in the public survey, community members can strengthen the entire community. Their insights and ideas will shape the future of the Leech Lake Band of Ojibwe.

For questions or more information, contact Bryan McCoy, Planner at Tribal Development, by emailing bryan.mccoy@llojibwe.net or calling 218-335-3769. The Leech Lake Band of Ojibwe looks forward to the community's active involvement in building a prosperous economic future.

• Creating Jobs: With the rollout of gaming activities in non-tribal enterprises, the Leech Lake Band expects to see new job opportunities in our community, contributing to reduced unemployment and increased opportunities.

 Fostering Partnerships: Collaboration with non-tribally owned businesses creates valuable partnerships, fostering mutual growth and prosperity within our region.

Responsible Analysis and Mitigation

Tribal leaders understand the importance of responsible analysis and proactive measures to avoid potential impacts on existing gaming operations. Tribal leadership and staff will closely monitor revenue trends, customer preferences, and market dynamics to adjust strategies as needed. While it is true that the addition of new gaming locations may cause a redistribution of patrons and revenue, it is essential to consider the broader perspective. Also, keep in mind that gaming is already going on at many locations within the Reservation without providing any benefit to Leech Lake.

Community Engagement

The Leech Lake Band values the input of its community members throughout this transformative journey. Band leaders encourage open dialogue and active engagement to shape the direction of Class II gaming operations in non-tribally owned businesses. As part of the community engagement process, band members are invited to attend a public meeting regarding the Class II Gaming rollout to be held at Cedar Lakes Casino Event Center on Tuesday, August 22, 2023 beginning at 5:00 PM. Band members can also share their thoughts via email to comments@llojibwe.net

Building a Brighter Future

With the official rollout of Class II gaming operations in nontribally owned businesses, the Leech Lake Band of Ojibwe envisions a future brimming with opportunities and prosperity. The tribe looks forward to uplifting the lives of its members and preserving its cultural heritage for generations to come.

What's Next?

With an initial pilot site now operational in Bena, MN, tribal leaders and key staff from both the tribal government and gaming are meeting regularly to formalize the application and licensing structures that will allow further expansion of Class II Gaming operations. More information on these efforts will be shared with band members in the coming weeks.

LLBO Reservation Restoration Act – Parcel Map Available for Viewing

CASS LAKE – Working collectively to implement the Leech Lake Band of Ojibwe Reservation Restoration Act, the Leech Lake Band of Ojibwe and the Chippewa National Forest have announced that a map of proposed parcels for transfer on the Chippewa National Forest has been created and is available for public viewing: www. fs.usda.gov/chippewa

The Forest and the Band jointly identified the proposed parcels to be transferred. The intent is to limit fragmentation of ownership boundaries while honoring private property rights. The legislation language makes provisions for honoring any existing private property rights such as easements, permits, or other encumbrances.

"It's been a pleasure and an honor to work with the Leech Lake Band of Ojibwe as we implement the Reservation Restoration Act to transfer back 11,760 acres to this sovereign nation. We understand the importance the land holds to the Band and will continue to work with the Band as we move through this process," said Chippewa Forest Supervisor Michael Stansberry.

This action is a significant part of implementing the Leech Lake Band of Ojibwe Reservation Restoration Act, signed into law in December, 2020, which transfers approximately 11,760 acres of public land, currently managed by the Chippewa National Forest, to the Department of the Interior to be held in trust for the benefit of the Leech Lake Band of Ojibwe.

These lands will enable the Leech Lake Band of Ojibwe to invest in future generations with economic and residential development. Lands subject to transfer hold historical and cultural significance to the Band.

"It is with great joy and hope for the future in our hearts that we celebrate the latest step forward in restoring a portion of the illegally transferred lands back to the Leech Lake Ojibwe. On behalf of the Band, I want to express my gratitude to the Forest Service and Tribal staff collaborating behind the scenes to move this land transfer towards completion. This is one of the most monumental and positive developments to take place on Leech Lake since the first treaties were signed and the reservation was established in 1855," said Faron Jackson Sr., Chairman of the Leech Lake Band of Ojibwe.

Comprehensive information regarding the proposed land transfer parcels is available including FAQs, and an online StoryMap are available on the Forest's website www.fs.usda.gov/chippewa.

Chairman's Report

CHAIRMAN FARON JACKSON SR.

Governmental Activities Chairman's Summary

Monthly Report

Boozhoo, my relatives, friends, community members and all! The Leech Lake RBC Tribal Council has taken the next step in our aggressive agenda before the U.S. Congress. Leech Lake has Senate File 616 -Leech Lake Reservation Restoration Technical Corrections Act of 2023 before Congress. The Tribal Council members have created a focused strategy in testifying and advocating for new dollars on our unmet needs at Leech Lake. As we keep moving forward, here is some of the exciting news being reported to the great Leech Lake People.

Chairman Jackson had made a Motion to Implement MCT Res.

32-15 – On July 10, 2023 at the Northern Lights Casino Convention Center, Chairman Jackson had made the motion to implement MCT Resolution 32-15 that passed. MCT Legal Counsel Brodeen had stated that a letter will be submitted to the U.S. DOI. We will need to select a date for the Secretarial Election on MCT Resolution 32-15. MCT Resolution 32-15 states, "Whereas, the MCT, TEC believes that the adult members of the MCT should be able to cast a ballot on the question of whether other Chippewa blood should be counted towards membership." Chairman Jackson has stated that the Enrollment Ordinance could be amended by the MCT, TEC in saving time and money. The immediate concern is Wilder Research had completed a Population Projections and Methodology Report in 2013. On page 4, Scenario 2, Leech Lake population in 2013 was 9,244-13,140 and in 2098 shall be 3,152-5,914. Chairman Jackson had stated, "We are seeing a drastic decrease in enrollment and the majority of enrollees today, are 40 and older."

Restoring Lands Sold Without the Consent of Landowners – Minnesota Senator Tina Smith had introduced S. 616 for the transfer of additional Federal land. This bill will amend the Leech Lake Band of Ojibwe Reservation Restoration Act. Leech Lake had identified another 4,000 acres sold without the consent of a majority of the rightful landowners. If the bill passes Congress, an agreement between the Secretary and the Tribe, and the Secretary may transfer land to the Tribe on a rolling basis.

Congressional H.R. 1589 Tribal Nutrition Improvement Act of 2023 – This bill Expands access to free and reduced school meals in Tribal areas. The bill also directs USDA to establish a pilot program to award grants to 10 Tribal entities for operating and implementing the National School Lunch Program, the School Breakfast Program, Summer Food Service Program, and the Child and Adult Care Food Program in Bureau-Funded schools, schools on or near an Indian reservation, and early care and education facilities. If the bill passes, this would provide additional food services for our children.

Congressional H.R. 409 IHS Contract Support Amendment Act - To amend the Indian Self-Determination and Education Assistance Act to secure existing Tribal contract support cost reimbursements. This bill allows to Tribes to receive contract support costs for activities that would otherwise be carried out by the DOI or DHHS for direct operation of a program, but for which the costs are not fully covered by the amount of funds required by the Indian Self-Determination and Education Assistance Act.

Congressional S. 2264 Native American Housing Assistance and Self-Determination Reauthorization Act of 2021 -This bill provides federal housing assistance to Indians. Specifically, the bill reauthorizes through FY2032 and otherwise revises the Indian Housing Block Grant program. Among other revisions to these programs, the bill expands allowable housing activities under the Indian program to include education-related stipends, college housing assistance, and other education-related assistance for lowincome college students. Next, the bill authorizes HUD to guarantee housing loans for Indians through FY2032. Additionally, the bill provides statutory authority for the Tribal HUD-VASH program, which provides rental assistance and supportive services to Indian veterans who are homeless or at risk of homelessness and living in or near an area where a Tribe or Tribally designated housing entity provides assistance for affordable housing. Leech Lake NAHASDRA shall see modest increases in funding for FY23 through 2027.

Congressional S.1308 A Bill to Amend the Indian Self-Determination and Education Assistance Act to Extend Deadline – This bill would extend deadlines for the DOI to issue rules for the Tribal Self-Governance program. Under current law, the department was required to submit a proposed rule within 21 months and the final rule within 30 months of October 21, 2020. The bill would extend those periods to 38 months and 50 months.

Congressional S. 2273 A Bill on Native American Child Protection Act – To amend the Indian Child Protection and Family Violence Prevention Act. Culturally appropriate treatment in awarding grants under this section, the Service shall encourage the use of culturally appropriate treatment services and programs that respond to the unique cultural values, customs, and traditions of applicant Indian Tribes. Reporting will be no later than 2 years after the date of the enactment of the Native American Child Protection Act, the Secretary of the Interior, acting through the Bureau of Indian Affairs, shall submit a report to Congress on the award of grants under this section.

Congressional S. 563 A Bill to Amend the Act of June 18, 1934, to Reaffirm the Authority of the Secretary of the Interior to take Land into Trust for Indian Tribes The bill applies the Indian Reorganization Act to all federally recognized Indian Tribes, regardless of when a Tribe became recognized. The amendments made by this bill are retroactively effective as if included in the IRA. This effectively overrules the Supreme Court's decision in Carcieri v. Salazar, which held that Interior could not take land into trust for a specified Tribe because that Tribe had not been under Federal jurisdiction when the IRA was enacted in 1934.

Congressional S. 1723 Truth and Healing Commission on Indian Board School Policies – According to research from the National Native American Boarding School Healing Coalition, the Federal Government funded church-run boarding schools for Native Americans from 1819 through the 1960's under the Act of March 3, 1819. A Final Report will be no later than 5 years after the date of enactment of this Act.

The Leech Lake Administration has been reviewing and carefully considering the language in these bills that affect Leech Lake. The U.S. Congressional bills will provide funding and address putting land into trust. A lot of these bills will require the continence of letters of support and testifying before the appropriate committees. In the coming months, we will have a crystal-clear picture on the bills that will pass for the benefit the Leech Lake Band of Ojibwe and its People.

Safety note, we continue to have 'red flag' alerts with the fires burning in Canada. The smoke from these fires can raise heck with our Band members breathing, asthma, allergies, sinus issues, and the constant cough. Please be aware of the warning and a mask may help with these conditions with the fires burning to the North and blowing South on its neighbors.

Governmental Activities Secretary/Treasurer's Summary

Monthly Report

Greetings Leech Lake Band Members! It is already time for my July report to the people. As usual, summertime is flying by. Many things happening, and I am privileged and honored to provide this report to you. I will first give a quick recap of the third quarterly financial report provided at the July 7, 2023, quarterly meeting, along with a brief update of the activities we undertook in July. I will conclude with a year-in-review and an outline of goals for the upcoming year.

GOVERNMENT FY23 QUARTER 3 REPORT

The following is the quarterly financial report for the first threequarters of FY 23, covering the period of July 1, 2022, to March 31, 2023. Total General Fund revenue for the period was $23,122,458, reflecting an increase of $4,072,522 over the same period last year, for a year-over-year increase of 21.4% Total General Fund expenditures for the nine months ending March 31, 2023, were $24,320,589, reflecting a $4,501,964 increase over the same period last year, for a yearover-year increase in General Fund expenditures of 22.7%.

For the nine months ending March 31, 2023, the total revenue for the Special Revenue Fund was $67,972,265, reflecting an increase of $829,898 over the same period last year, for a year-over-year increase of 1.2%. Total Special Revenue Fund expenditures for the same period were $66,351,117, reflecting a decrease of $182,542 over the same period last year, for a year-over-year decrease in Special Revenue expenditures of 0.3%.

For the nine months ending March 31, 2022, the total revenue for the Indirect Cost Pool was $9,993,746, reflecting an increase of $912,874, for a year-over-year increase of 10.1% for the same period last year. Total Indirect Cost Pool expenditures through March 31, 2023, were $10,641,437, reflecting an increase of $1,250,502 over the same period in the previous year, for a year-over-year increase of 13.3%.

ENTERPRISE FY23 QUARTER 3 REPORT

On our enterprise side, for the nine months ending March 31, 2023, Total Casino, Small Business, and Gaming Administration revenue increased by 2.3% over the same period last year. The Total Cost of Goods increased by 17.2% over the same period last year. Total Payroll Expenses decreased by 15.52% over the same period last year. Total Operating Expenses increased by 79.2% over the same period last year. The total combined Net Profit from Casino, Small and Business, Gaming Administration for the first three quarters of Fiscal Year 2023 decreased by 46.1% over the same period last year.

There are two important things regarding these numbers. First, the substantial quarterly increase in Total Operating Expenses is due to the recordation of funds transferred in last year to cover gaming payroll with COVID funds as allowable under to the American Rescue Plan Act. When this factor is removed, Operating Expenses did increase slightly, but nowhere near the almost 80 percent reported above.

Second, a deeper dive into the decrease in year-over-year net profitability is appropriate. 2022 was a record-setting year from a gaming revenue standpoint. As you will note, on the surface, year-over-year net revenue appears to be remaining steady; both this quarter and last quarter, we are reporting very slight increases in our net revenue from all enterprise activities. However, this increase in revenue is not attributable to only gaming activity but is reflective of other enterprise activity such as Leech Lake Market. When the numbers are separated, our gaming net profit is down 27.2% in a year-over-year comparison for the same period. This is indeed disappointing. However, if we take a step back and compare our gaming net profit for this year to the same period in 2019, the last year before the pandemic and the ensuing economic rollercoaster, our gaming net profit is still up by 11.0%. Overall, our enterprises remain in a strong position and we continue to plan for the future to ensure our enterprise position remains as strong as possible.

JULY ACTIVITIES

On July 10, 2023, the Minnesota Chippewa Tribe held its quarterly Tribal Executive Committee meeting at the Northern Lights Casino. The TEC once again voted to renew our request to the Secretary of Interior to call a Secretarial Election to amend our enrollment criteria. Work on this matter continues, and we will keep our membership informed of progress and when to expect the Secretarial Election.

On July 12, 2023, I was asked to testify before the Senate Committee on Indian Affairs regarding our technical amendment to the Leech Lake Reservation Restoration Act, which would increase the acres that the US Forest Service is returning to the Leech Lake Band. The hearing went very well, and I am thankful for the opportunity to advocate for the restoration of our land base along with so many others. This is a group effort, and we are all working toward this common goal. I am thankful the LLBO has the full support of both the US Forest Service and the Department of Interior in this endeavor. We hope the technical amendment will be marked up by the Committee later this fall and sent to the full Senate for a vote soon thereafter.

On July 18, 2023, I attended my first Chippewa Federation Meeting in Keshena, Wisconsin. Ojibwe bands from Minnesota, Wisconsin, and Michigan were present. Items discussed included language revitalization, continuing to protect the wolf from hunting, and ensuring the protection of our waters. It is great to see the various Chippewa bands coming together to work toward solutions that serve all our people. I also attended the Midwest Alliance of Sovereign Tribes meetings on July 19 and 20. Conversations at those meetings centered on federal issues with the Indian Health Service, various legislation being considered by Congress, the Brackeen Supreme Court decision, and federal trends in the tribal cannabis industry.

On July 28, 2023, LLBO and the White Earth Nation were invited to present our tribal flags to the Dakota County Judicial Center in a ceremony held in Hastings, MN. It was a wonderful event with many people in attendance. We are very happy our flag will fly next to several other tribal flags in that complex to remind Dakota County judges and other decision-makers of our tribal sovereignty.

YEAR IN REVIEW

My July 2023 report marks a milestone as it is my twelfth monthly report to you, the people. In this first year, we have accomplished a lot together. Last July, there was no fiscal year budget in place, and we were out of compliance with our Budget Ordinance. It took until January 2023 to adopt our budget, and by that point we were ½ way through the fiscal year. This year, on June 29, 2023, two days before the start of our new fiscal year, we had a duly approved and adopted budget in place. I cannot underscore how significant this accomplishment is and I sincerely express my gratitude and appreciation for the hard work and dedication of many who worked to make this goal a reality. From our division directors and program managers, to our Budget Committee members, to our Band members for providing input on our budget proposals, chi miigwech to each of you for your hard work!

There have been many other accomplishments within the past year I wish to highlight:

- We've made substantial progress regarding our external audits, completing FY20. Our new auditors REDW are on track to finish FY21 audit by end of August.
- We have made internal governmental structure changes to ensure that our operations and programs are sustainable and viable over the long term.
 - We have created a Chief Financial Officer position to oversee the various financial functions of the tribal government. This CFO will help streamline our financial and procurement processes producing better and more efficient results.

- We have prioritized the collection of billing reimbursements for programs where available. In one year alone, we have increased billing revenue by over $1.2 million.
- We assigned $36.3 million in State and Local Recovery Funds allocated to LLBO pursuant to the American Rescue Plan Act to cover lost revenue from Fiscal Year 2020. This reallocation of funds ensures that we can utilize the funds for any governmental purpose and that we do not have to encumber them by December 31, 2024.
- We have made substantial investments in our communities, youth, and people. We are renovating all of our powwow grounds in the next year. We have established a new youth activity program, Gaa-Niigaaniziwaad, which will serve all our youth with activities to reinforce cultural identity and Ojibwe values. We have taken tangible steps to address the ongoing opioid and fentanyl epidemic, including a civil commitment code and creating community navigator positions.
- We amended our Gaming Ordinance to empower our regulatory board outside of the RBC and to assert our full jurisdiction to regulate all Class II Gaming within the boundaries of the Reservation. This assertion of jurisdiction is slowly rolling out but it is a substantial exercise of our inherent sovereignty as well as a wise business decision.
- We have advanced the return of illegally taken Leech Lake lands with the implementation of the Leech Lake Reservation Restoration Act. The Centers for Medicaid and CHIP Services have agreed to temporarily halt the implementation of a policy that would have disastrous impacts on the sustainability of the health and human services we provide to tribal members. Even as we celebrate these accomplishments, we all recognize and acknowledge that there is still much work left to do. Creating lasting and systemic change takes intentionality. Building capacity takes determination. Investments in innovative and strategic ideas take time to germinate and grow. And in order to see further results, we must be patient but unyielding, steadfast but flexible, cautious but hopeful. My strongest desire is that the next twelve months produce even more positive results for the preservation of our land, our communities and families, and our future generations. And by working together, we will accomplish much more.

In closing, I wish to say chi miigwech to each of you for your dedication to our homeland and to preserving our way of life. As always, it is my honor and privilege to serve you, and I look forward to reporting on the progress we make together over the course of the next twelve months!

Minnesota Teachers Required to Undergo Native American History Training

By KAYLA DUOOS

MINNEAPOLIS – Minnesota teachers are now required to undergo training about Native American history and culture.

In new legislation passed under the education budget, teachers who are earning their licenses for the first time or renewing must take required training for K-12 teachers about the "cultural heritage and contemporary contributions of American Indians, with particular emphasis on Minnesota Tribal Nations," in order to earn their license.

Teachers already must fulfill multiple requirements to renew their licenses, including training on suicide prevention and reading preparation.

În addition, they are required to undergo cultural competency training — which includes instruction on how to best serve Native American students — to renew their licenses, but Native Americanspecific training will eventually be its own requirement.

The Minnesota Professional Educator Licensing and Standards Board is working on the Native American history rollout and exactly what the training will include. Until then, teachers can fulfill the new requirement under the existing cultural competency training.

Minnesota's academic standards for students include material about the cultural heritage and contributions of Native Americans and the tribal nations with which Minnesota shares borders. The Legislature this past session also mandated school districts offer curriculum on the Holocaust, the genocide of Indigenous people and the removal of Native Americans from Minnesota.

In his education budget, Gov. Tim Walz recommended Native American history renewal requirement for teachers and argued the current cultural competency requirements for teachers didn't dedicate enough time specifically to Native American history.

"Given the rich history of American Indians and their con-

LLBO Tribal Member Awarded 2023 Bush Fellowship for Visionary Leadership

By KAYLA DUOOS

ST. PAUL – A Leech Lake Band Member has been named as one of the 2023 recipients of the Bush Fellowships for Visionary Leaders.

Leslie Harper, is one of 22 individuals whose bold vision and leadership are shaping communities in Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota and the 23 Native nations that share the same geography.

Harper is determined to help Tribal communities create their own futures. Raised by parents who instilled the values of sovereignty and self-determination, she believes that priorities and decisions must be determined from within a community, not from an outside entity. A Native American language revitalizer, she has built an immersion school and led national efforts to ensure the rights of Indigenous students and families in immersion settings.

She wants to build hope and optimism by helping Native communities articulate their own culturally appropriate outcomes, approaches, and evaluation measures. During her Fellowship, she will seek mentoring and build the facilitation skills she needs to mobilize her community and prepare others to lead. She will also travel to other language revitalization sites to connect with leaders engaged in language reclamation. She will maintain energy for her work through regenerative rest and ceremonial participation.

"Each of this year's Fellows has already made vital contributions to their communities," said Anita Patel, vice president, grantmaking for the Bush Foundation. "The Bush Fellowship is an investment in their potential to lead even greater change in the future so that our region works better for everyone."

The Bush Fellowship supports accomplished leaders to take their leadership to the next level, to have more and bigger impact in and across communities. The Fellowship is distinctive in its flexibility, allowing Fellows to define what they need to become more effective and equitable leaders. More than 2,000 people have received support from the Fellowship over more than 60 years.

This year, 590 people applied for the Bush Fellowship. Fellows were selected through an in-depth pro-ty leaders, Bush Fellow alumni, and Bush Foundation staff. Applicants shared their vision for the impact they want to have, identified what they need to develop their leadership capacity to have that impact, and created a plan for how they would use the Bush Fellowship opportunity to make their vision a reality. At each stage of the process, selection committees included individuals who reflect the diversity of the region, including different sectors, geography, genders, and racial and ethnic identities. Bush Fellow alumni provided the initial review of all applications, and community leaders made the final selection decisions.

"The Bush Foundation believes in investing in people who power great ideas and big change," said Patel. "We are excited to be with these Fellows on their leadership journey and eagerly look forward to what they will do next."

The Bush Foundation will accept applications for the 2024 Bush Fellowship beginning August 22, 2023. The Bush Fellowship is open to anyone aged 24 years and older who has a track record of leading change and seeks to build the ability to have even greater impact. Applicants must live in Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota or one of the 23 Native nations that shares the same geography.

Volunteers Needed for Water and Sanitation Projects in Leech Lake Tribal Communities

via AMANDA CONKLIN | IHS 218-444-6710 amanda.conklin@ihs.gov

Boozhoo, We need your help The Health Division, Public Works Department, and Tribal Development Office of the Leech Lake Band and Indian Health Services (IHS) Sanitation Facilities Construction (SFC) program are working cooperatively to identify the extent and feasibility of providing sanitation facilities to your community. To do that, we need to know how many potential volunteers there are who are willing to participate in Mission for a potential well sampling project and in Onigum, Sugar Point, and Stony Point for a potential septic inventory project. Our goal aims to provide documented evidence of the extent of water and wastewater deficiencies in these communities. If we are able to collect documented evidence, the LL Health Division, Public Works Department, Tribal Development Office and IHS SFC will work towards finding the solution that best matches the needs of your communities.

The SFC program supports the overall IHS mission of raising the health status of Native peoples to the highest possible level by providing technical and financial assistance to Tribal communities for the cooperative development and continuing operation of safe water, wastewater, and solid waste systems. One of the largest services that the SFC program provides is developing and funding construction projects that improve the water, wastewater, and solid waste infrastructure for residential homes in Tribal communities.

Mission Community: In 2018 and 2021, the Health Division informed IHS that they had detected arsenic levels above 10 ppb (the EPA regulatory limit for drinking water) in the Mission Community Center well. Following wise advice from the Health Division, the Mission Community Center has not used the well since.

We are seeking a number of volunteers in the Mission area that would be willing to let the Health Division and IHS staff into their homes to collect water samples in order to test for arsenic. All results will be shared with the individual homeowners. If arsenic levels are below the EPA limit for arsenic, IHS will take no immediate action as the water is considered to be safe for drinking. However, if arsenic levels are found to be elevated in any individual wells, IHS will discuss with the homeowner some potential individual solutions. If there are numerous homes with elevated arsenic in their wells, then IHS will use that data to seek funding for planning an engineered community solution to provide safe drinking water to all the homes in Mission.

Onigum, Stony Point, and Sugar Point Communities: IHS and the Leech Lake Public Works Department work together on a regular basis. Through this relationship, IHS was informed that it is suspected that many of the septic systems in the Onigum, Stony Point, and Sugar Point communities fail to meet current septic code. This could mean that septic systems do not have enough vertical separation from the seasonal high water table and/or enough horizontal separation from required setbacks. Additionally, many of the lots are not large enough to build replacement septic systems, and there is no access to an existing community sewer system.

We are seeking a number of volunteers in the Onigum, Stony Point, and Sugar Point communities that would be willing let Public Works, Health Division, and IHS staff perform septic assessments on their home sites to determine if the systems are up to code or not. A septic assessment includes pumping and inspecting the septic tank, taking 2 to 3 soil borings around the existing soil treatment area, and taking measurements in order to draw a site plan and verify setback distances. All results of the assessment will be shared with the homeowner. If septic systems are found to meet code and are in good working order or if septic systems are noncompliant but pose no immediate threat, no immediate action will need to be taken. If septic systems are noncompliant and pose an immediate threat, IHS will discuss with the homeowner some potential individual solutions. If there are numerous homes with noncompliant septic systems that pose a threat to human health or the environment, then IHS will use that data to seek funding for planning an engineered community solution to provide wastewater services to all the homes in the community.

If you are a tribal homeowner in one of the four above-mentioned communities and would like to participate, a form will be available on the Tribal Development Division's website throughout the month of August and a sign-up sheet will also be available for those that attend their community's LIC August meeting. The forms will be used to demonstrate that your community is willing to work with IHS so that we can seek special project funding to carry out the work for you and your communities. Once we secure funding, we will reach out to schedule our visits to your home at your convenience. Your participation and your input is critical for ensuring a successful and cooperative project. Minnesota's 11 Tribes Demand Restitution: Seeking Compensation from University of Minnesota Over Land Seizure

By KAYLA DUOOS

ST. PAUL – Minnesota's 11 Tribes are seeking compensation from the University of Minnesota.

150 years ago, all 11 of Minnesota's tribes sold, for a fraction of its worth, nearly 95,000 acres of land to make room for what is now the University of Minnesota. The state's Tribes were paid $2,309 for the land. Many now say it is time for the university and other higher education institutions to pay restitution.

This pushback against the universities who are "land-grab" sites is nationwide and was sparked by a March 2020 article in High Country News about "land-grab universities" that described how 10.7 million acres of land was taken from 250 tribes after the signing of the Morrill Act by President Abraham Lincoln in 1862. The law turned land stolen from Tribal nations into seed money for higher education.

The law was named after Justin Smith Morrill, an entrepreneur and a member of Congress, whose name adorns buildings on many college campuses across the country, including the University of Maryland at College Park, South Dakota State University and the University of Vermont, and many others.

Minnesota's Tribal lands that were taken currently sits under the U of M's holdings. The troubled history of the relationship between Minnesota's Native Americans and the University of Minnesota was detailed in the TRUTH Report, released in April of this year.

The 600-page study by a team of Native scholars says it "details how the founding regents and the University of Minnesota have undermined Tribal sovereignty and Indigenous self-determination, using genocide, land expropriation, and exploitation of Indigenous knowledge systems to transfer and accumulate wealth." The report also said the university "has participated in the development and teaching of revisionist narratives that conceal the systemic harms perpetuated against Indigenous peoples."

One of the recommendations of the TRUTH Report is that the university give back or "rematriate," Indigenous lands. The school is in the process of returning about 3,400 acres, the site of the Cloquet Forestry Center, to the Fond du Lac Band of Lake Superior Chippewa. The forestry center is wholly located within the Tribe's reservation.

The TRUTH Report also recommended "reparations in perpetuity" from the Permanent University Fund, "to Indigenous peoples."

All 11 of the state's Native American tribes have agreed to press for reparations. However, the Tribes have not settled on a specific amount, partly because of the difficulty of quantifying all the harm done.

The report called on university officials to hire more Native American faculty, offer students additional financial support, and give back land as reparations for the damage.

UMN officials have acknowledged the findings in the TRUTH report and last year began offering Native American students whose family income is less than $125,000 a year free or reduced tuition. But it is limited to students who belong to one of Minnesota's 11 federally recognized Tribes and does not cover all expenses of attending the university.

This year, the state Legislature approved an $8.5 million program that would pay all tuition and fees for Native Americans who live in Minnesota.

Bipartisan Initiative Aims to Empower Native Communities' Food Sovereignty through Innovative Legislation

By KAYLA DUOOS

WASHINGTON – A bipartisan legislation (US S2489) has been introduced to make the Food Distribution Program on Indian Reservations (FDPIR) work better for Tribal communities.

The bill sponsored by the U.S. Sen. Tina Smith (D-MN) and John Hoeven (R-ND), focuses on FDPIR, FDPIR provides food assistance for income-eligible Native households. In 2018, the Farm Bill reauthorization created a pilot program to allow self-governance contracting for procurement within FDPIR. The bipartisan FDPIR Tribal Food Sovereignty Act expands and makes that pilot program permanent. If enacted, the bill would allow Tribal governments to administer FDPIR for their community.

"Every Native American community should have access to nutritious and culturally specific food," said Smith. "This bipartisan bill will strengthen local food economies, empower Tribal governments, and provide healthy food to those who need it. I look forward to working with my colleagues on both sides of the aisle to get this passed as part of the Farm Bill."

"This legislation is part of our broader efforts to promote Tribal self-governance and builds upon the pilot program I worked to include in the 2018 farm bill," said Hoeven. "Our bill will not only give Tribes greater control over this important nutrition program, helping ensure that assistance gets to those who need it most, but will allow food to be sourced from more local producers, supporting the local economy."

Federal food programs are vital in many Native communities, with approximately 25 percent of Native Americans receiving some type of federal food assistance. In some Tribal communities, participation is as high as 80 percent.

Self-governance authority allows Tribal governments to administer federal programs within their own communities—it is widely regarded as one of the most effective federal policies for Tribes. Self-governance policies make federal dollars work better to address the unique needs of Tribal communities.

In 2018, the Farm Bill included the first ever self-governance expansion to USDA, with a pilot program that gave Tribes authority to buy food directly from commercial vendors – many of them within their own Tribes and communities – within the FDPIR program. Expanding self-governance at USDA will allow Tribes to build food systems to address food insecurity, increase access to Indigenous foods, and support strong Tribal economies.

The bill is currently in committee, the bill in full and further information can be found at congress.gov.

Nutrition Facts

Chicken makes a fantastic substitute for red meats. A great source of protein, meat has been linked to a variety of health benefits like stronger bones and muscles. The lean protein in chicken is an excellent source of amino acids. Our bodies use amino acids to build muscle tissue, something that is particularly important as we age. Studies have also shown that higher protein intake helps to maintain bone mineral density. Eating chicken can help to build stronger muscles and promote healthier bones, decreasing the risk of injuries and diseases such as osteoporosis. Carrots improve night vision, reduce the risk of cancer, lower blood pressure, improved your digestive health, and control your blood sugar. Asparagus is a low-calorie vegetable that is an excellent source of essential vitamins and minerals, especially folate and vitamins A, C, and K. Asparagus will help with blood pressure, reduces the risk of cancer, its packed with antioxidants, it may be a brain booster, and it is a natural diuretic.
